At Natural Strains, our sole mission is to make sure our customers get the absolute best CBD products available. We're committed to exceptional customer service. When it comes to CBD, we know our stuff. Every element of the growing, distilling and packaging process is quality controlled - from the soil the hemp flowers are grown in through to delivery to your door. The soil our hemp plants are grown in is certified 100% organic and we use organic MCT oil as the carrier oil. With Natural Strains, you can be safe in the knowledge that you're getting pure full spectrum CBD that contains all of the compounds from the entire plant, without any chemicals or other nasties.

We care passionately about making our entire operation and product packaging sustainable and environmentally friendly. Our CBD oil drops and e-liquids come in a recyclable glass bottle, our hemp flowers come in a recyclable mylar bag All products come in a recyclable jiffy bag for the outer packaging.
