We've used our first-hand experience of kitchen-building knowledge to construct the most detailed mobile kitchens in the industry after growing to fulfill the needs of the service industry and accessory installations. Feed Wagons strives to become one of the leading food truck and trailer manufacturers in the United States. Some of the greatest minds in the industry have relied on our expertise to design and construct trucks and trailers. This time, we've put that experience into motion. If you have great ideas in mind, you can start with owning your own service unit and build something exciting with us!
