Hey, nice to meet you im Danielle, I am a professional newborn& family photographer specialising in one of a kind portraits of newborn, children, families and maternity. I am fully trained to pose and photograph your little one safely. My photography journey started in 2019, when I received my first camera for my interior design degree. I have always been a creative soul photographing my children as they grew really opened my eyes as to how important photography was and how quickly children grow. Photography gives me the freedom to be myself, to be creative. Every year i try to push myself to enter competitions and enrol in some kind of training to further my creative skills and ensure all my clients are safe and happy
